ABOUT THE HOSTS

The California Homebuilding Foundation is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization with a mission to pave the way for success for the next generation of homebuilders – providing scholarships for young people to pursue higher education and training in homebuilding fields, workforce development education programs for low-income high school students, and a research unit that provides college students with hands-on work experience and internship opportunities.

The CBIA Professional Women in Building (PWB) Council is the voice of women in the building industry, dedicated to supporting our members at the local, state and national levels by offering networking and educational opportunities, legislative awareness and outreach, and professional and personal development.

LEARN HOW TO BECOME A BITA CHAMPION!

Supporters will select a BITA high school to champion and receive extensive recognition among students, parents, administration, and fellow industry partners.
